

What is the proper way to handle a large group speaking at once?

There are a few ways to handle a large group talking simultaneously, depending on the situation.

If the group is a constant background noise that is part of the setting, they can be written into the scene description:

Scriptnotes T-shirts
Last Chance - Order Now

```

INT. CONVENTION HALL – DAY

The massive room is packed full of Browncoats,
BUZZING about all things Firefly.

Phil has to shout to be heard.

                                PHIL
This way!

```

If the group's timing is important, they can be handled like any other key sound:

```

                                MAYOR WILSON (CONT'D)
So vote for me, and we will have another four years of Hill Valley prosperity!

The crowd ERUPTS in support.

```

If the group's message is particularly important, you can call attention to it by writing some of it out with slashes:

```

                                VARIOUS CROWD MEMBERS
He lies!/Don't believe him!/We demand proof!/etc.

```

Recommend 1 Share Tweet G+

More from johnaugust.com

Writing better dialogue

When characters have multiple names

Characters who are not yet important

More from Screenwriting.io:

In dialogue, how do you handle a character with a speech impediment?

Can you include emotion or other "unshootable" elements in your screenplay?

11/6/2017

There are a few ways to handle a large group talking. | Screenwriting.io

Formatting the one-sided phone conversation

Do non-talking characters' names get put in ALL CAPS when introduced?

Tagged: characters formatting screenplay screenwriting script scriptwriting

Answers About Ask Index

Copyright © 2017 Screenwriting.io. All rights reserved.